ECON JOURNAL WATCH 13(1)
January 2016: 1–4

Editor's Notes: Acknowledgments 2014–15

I thank co-editors Garrett Jones, George Selgin, and Larry White for their fine work, and Bruce Benson and Fred Foldvary, who are now co-editors emeriti. The managing editor Jason Briggeman not only continues to do an astounding job in improving every piece we publish, by copy-editing, fact-checking, and ensuring accuracy throughout every reference and virtually every detail, but also in advising on refashioning papers in structure and substance, and on what to select for publication. Jason's excellence and commitment to the project is crucial to whatever success it enjoys.

We are grateful to Jane Shaw Stroup, who has helped greatly with many manuscripts, in particular many of the pieces (twelve, and counting) for the symposium "Classical Liberalism in Econ, by Country." We also thank Kurt Schuler, for his guidance and ideas. We are grateful to web virtuoso John Stephens for continuing to fine-tune the superb website and document-production system that he created, and to Ryan Daza, Eric Hammer, and Erik Matson for occasional service to the journal.

For friendship and vital sponsorship over the past two years, we are grateful to donors. From the start of EJW, the project has enjoyed faithful and generous support from the Earhart Foundation, which has now come to the end of its mission. Like many others, EJW will always remember and be grateful for Earhart's friendship and beneficence. For support we also thank the Charles G. Koch Foundation, Gerry Ohrstrom, and the John William Pope Foundation. I am very grateful to Rich and Mary Fink and the Fink family, for the generous Mercatus Center JIN chair ("JIN" for three of the family's beloved), which I hold and that helps to support EJW.

We are ever deeply grateful to Atlas Network, for housing EJW within their organization and for their friendship and utterly in-kind support (accounts, payments, reporting, etc.), especially Romulo Lopez, Harry Kalsted, Brad Lips, and Alejandro Chafuen.

For co-sponsoring symposia published in EJW, we thank the Acton Institute for a symposium on economic and religious concepts, and the Mercatus Center for a symposium on economists on the welfare state and the regulatory state, in particular Claire Morgan for facilitating the collaboration and organizing an event at Mercatus in connection with the symposium.

We are grateful to our authors, for generously contributing their creativity, craftsmanship, and industriousness, as well as for their patience and cooperation in our editorial process.

The “Classical Liberalism in Econ, by Country” authors should be thanked in particular for their courage in standing up for liberal causes, often under professional and ideological adversity, some under conditions of personal danger to themselves and their family.

We thank the following individuals for generously providing intellectual accountability to EJW:
