

EJW

ECON JOURNAL WATCH

Scholarly Comments on Academic Economics

Econ Journal Watch Scholarly Comments on Academic Economics

Volume 23, Issue 1, March 2026

COMMENTS

Editor's Notes: Acknowledgments, April 2024 through March 2026

Daniel B. Klein 1–3

Specification Searching in the Race between Education and Technology

Joseph Francis 4–26

Globalization and the China Shock: A Reassessment of Autor, Dorn, and Hanson

Robert Kaestner 27–45

An Article in Science on Covid Origins Contains a Fundamental Error

Michael B. Weissman 46–68

A Critique of Synthetic Control Method Studies on Covid-19 Policy—Evidence from Sweden

Jonas Herby 69–87

A Critique of an Urban Studies Article on the Housing Supply Impact of Land Use Reforms

Tobias Peter, Joseph S. Tracy, Edward J. Pinto, and Alanna Baker 88–134

Reply to “A Critique of an Urban Studies Article on the Housing Supply Impact of Land Use Reforms”

Christina Stacy, Yonah Freemark, and Lydia Lo 135–138

Power Analysis is Essential: High-Powered Tests Suggest Minimal to No Effect of Rounded Shapes on Click-Through Rates

Ron Kohavi, Jakub Linowski, Lukas Vermeer, Fabrice Boisseranc, Joachim Furuseth, Andrew Gelman, Guido Imbens, and Ravikiran Rajagopal 139–172

Adam Smith's Impartial Spectator is Neither Divine nor an Ideal Observer
Jack Russell Weinstein 173–197

Adam Smith's Beholderism Redux
Daniel B. Klein and Jeffrey T. Young 198–210

ECONOMICS IN PRACTICE

Central Banking Research Is Increasingly Directed to Environment, Inequality,
Gender, and Race
Radu Şimandan and Cristian Valeriu Păun 211–231

The Ideological Profile of France's Economic Bestsellers
Alexis Sémanne 232–256

WATCHPAD

Green Vanities in Europe
John Constable 257–265